

Jimmy Alfredo Mordan, born February 2, 1987 is a Dominican American singer and songwriter. Born and raised in the Dominican Republic, he is the son of Jaime Mordan, an Automotive Repair Shop owner, and Eneuloliza De Los Santos Mordan a Hair Salon worker. At a very young age, Jimmy found a passion for music and dancing. He soon began participating and competing in talent shows which boosted his confidence to pursue a new yet uncertain future in the music industry. "Jaimito", like many of his close friends and family call him migrated to the United States at the age of seventeen, where he soon would find himself in love for the first time. This new found feeling made way for Jimmy to begin writing poetry which soon turned into songwriting. He has composed hundreds of songs like "Te Pienso" which is accessible on YouTube.

Jimmy grew up listening to some of the most influential Latin musicians such as Ricardo Arjona, Zacarias Ferreira, Mana, Camila, Jose Luis Perales, and the Popular Bachata group Aventura. He created his own unique style of Bachata by infusing the sounds of Hip Hop, R&B and Reggaeton. He incorporates different languages in his lyrics such as English, Spanish, French and Portuguese as in the song "La La I Love You". There are a handful of young solo artists who dare to tackle the challenge of performing Bachata music at the international level, but Jimmy is not afraid to explore beyond his comfort zone. He knows he embodies the charisma and talent to make the genre his own.

Jimmy is a firm believer that everything is possible if you set your mind to it. He says, "Nothing comes easily. Work, continuous work and hard work, is the only way to accomplish your goals. I come from a humble and close-knit family. I credit my drive and determination to my parents who taught me to fight for what I want."

In 2005, Jimmy was invited to the popular Latin show "Despierta America" where he had the opportunity to meet and greet one of his favorite Reggaeton duos Wisin y Yandel. Jimmy described that experience as "unique and unforgettable" since the person hosting the show that particular day was fellow compatriot Birmania Ríos. Jimmy loves to embrace his heritage and takes pride in being a Dominican, that's why he was beyond ecstatic when he was invited to be a part of the Dominican Day Parade in 2010 in Phoenix, Arizona among other celebrities.

Although he refuses to admit it, those around him consider him a humanitarian. According to his family, he cares a great deal about protecting people. That's why he hosted over 3 benefit concerts in 2011 to raise money for the earthquake victims of Haiti. In addition, he participated and performed in Cancer Awareness Campaigns, as well as Christmas Campaigns collecting gifts and donations for children and families in need.

Currently, Jimmy is working on his first album which promises to be a blend of different rhythms in which people worldwide can identify with. Jimmy continues to work hard and he said he'll never give up on his dream. What started as a hobby for him has now turned out to be his ultimate goal. He hopes to inspire people from everywhere especially young teens to follow their dreams.
